Jointly with
Members in Practice Committee &
Committee on Commercial Laws, Economic Advisory & NPO Cooperative

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

The Workshop on Setting up Practice of Real Estate Consultancy: Compliance, Advisory and Evolving Frontiers is a specialized professional development initiative jointly organized by the Committee for Members in Practice (CMP) of ICAI and the Committee on Commercial Laws, Economic Advisory & NPO Cooperative. This programme is designed to equip Chartered Accountants with deep sectoral insights and practical capabilities to handle the rapidly evolving real estate ecosystem with confidence and competence.

With increasing regulatory oversight, complex financing structures, and growing stakeholder expectations, the real estate sector today demands professionals who are not only technically sound but also advisory-driven and compliance-focused. This workshop provides participants with structured learning across legal frameworks (RERA, Contract Law, Property Law, Planning Laws), taxation (GST and Income Tax), financial structuring, project accounting, audit practices, redevelopment laws, insolvency, FEMA, and documentation. Special emphasis is placed on Joint Development Agreements (JDAs), RERA compliance, funding models, litigation exposure, and risk management.

The programme is designed as a progressive learning journey—from foundational understanding of the real estate ecosystem to advanced application through case studies and practical workshops. Participants will gain exposure to real-world scenarios through document analysis, compliance checklists, financial modelling discussions, and expert-led deliberations.

The workshop brings together experienced faculty comprising legal experts, senior professionals, and industry specialists, ensuring a rich blend of conceptual clarity and practical relevance. The concluding sessions integrate learning across all modules through complex case studies, empowering participants to offer end-to-end real estate advisory, compliance, certification, audit, and representation services.

This programme aims to transform Chartered Accountants from technical experts into trusted real estate advisors, capable of creating value for clients and contributing meaningfully to the real estate and infrastructure economy.

INCOME AND TAX FOR THE LANDOWNER UNDER REAR ESTATE TRANSACTION -

01. Basics of Income Tax for Landowner under JDA
02. Whether transfer of land under a Joint Development Agreement (JDA) constitutes a 'transfer' under Section 2(47) of the Income-tax Act, particularly in light of possession clauses under Section 53A of the Transfer of Property Act?
03. Applicability and scope of Section 45(5A), whether it covers only individuals/HUFs and excludes firms, companies, and other entities entering JDAs?
04. Taxation for the landowner in case of firms, companies, and other entities entering into JDAs
05. What is the point of taxation for capital gains in a JDA year of agreement, year of possession, or year of completion certificate?
06. How should 'full value of consideration' be determined for the landowner stamp duty value, share of developed area, or monetary consideration received?
07. Whether stamp duty valuation under Section 50C applies independently or in conjunction with Section 45(5A) in case of JDAs?
08. Taxability of non-monetary consideration (constructed area / plots received by landowner) whether taxable as capital gains or business income?
09. In case the landowner sells the received developed property (flats/plots), how should the cost of acquisition and holding period be determined?
10. Whether the landowner can claim exemptions under Sections 54, 54F, or 54EC in JDA transactions, and at what stage such exemptions can be exercised?
11. In case of cancellation or failure of JDA, how should earlier recognized capital gains be treated whether reversal or rectification is permissible?
12. What are the TDS implications under Sections 194-IC and 194-IA in JDA structures, and how should compliance responsibilities be allocated between developer and landowner?
13. Taxation of unsold units
  - Important Case Laws
  - Suggestions and Practice approach to the Participants

GST FOR PLOTTED DEVELOPMENT UNDER JDA MODEL - REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION

01. Basics of Plotted Development
02. Whether plotted development (sale of land after development) qualifies as a 'supply of service' or remains 'sale of land' under Schedule III of the CGST Act?
03. In a Joint Development Agreement (JDA), how should the transaction between landowner and developer be characterized for GST purposes barter, joint supply, or independent supplies?
04. At what point does GST liability trigger in a JDA model for plotted development on execution of JDA, grant of development rights, or sale of plots to end customers?
05. Is there a Development Right transfer by Land owner, and if yes, what is the valuation mechanism in absence of monetary consideration?
06. How should valuation be determined under which Rule of CGST Rules in cases where consideration is partly in kind (area share) and partly in monetary terms?
07. Is GST applicable on sale of developed plots where basic infrastructure (roads, drainage, electricity) is provided does this change the nature of 'land' under GST law?
08. Whether input tax credit (ITC) is available to the developer on expenses incurred for plotted development, considering the end supply may qualify as 'sale of land'?
09. In case of revenue-sharing JDA, how should GST be discharged between landowner and developer individually or through a principal-agent construct?
10. What are the implications of recent Advance Rulings and judicial precedents on GST applicability for plotted development projects under JDA structures?
11. How should compliance be structured (invoicing, time of supply, GST registration) for both landowner and developer to mitigate litigation risks in plotted development transactions?
12. Transaction between and GST Taxability for:
  - a. owner and end customer
  - b. developer and end customer

Practical approach and suggestions to the participants for GST Practice at Cities and Mofussil areas
